

Password Reset and Account Recovery

Document ID	TECH-001	Category	Technical
Document Type	Customer Support Knowledge Base	Status	Example / Synthetic

Summary: Instructions for resetting a forgotten password, handling expired reset links, and recovering access when the email address is unavailable.

When to use password reset

Use the password reset flow when you forgot your password, your current password is rejected, or your account was locked after several failed sign-in attempts.

A password reset does not delete account data or change your subscription.

Reset your password

1. Open the sign-in page and select "Forgot password?".
2. Enter the email address associated with your account.
3. Open the password reset email and select the reset link.
4. Create a new password with at least 10 characters, including at least one letter and one number.
5. Sign in again using the new password.

Reset email did not arrive

Wait up to 5 minutes, then check spam or junk folders.

Confirm that the email address was entered correctly. For privacy, the sign-in page may show the same confirmation message whether or not an account exists.

Request a new reset email. Only the most recent reset link should be used.

Expired or invalid reset link

Password reset links expire after 30 minutes and can be used once. Request a new link if the page reports that the link is expired or invalid.

No access to the account email

Contact support and request account recovery. Be prepared to confirm non-sensitive account details such as the account name, approximate signup date, or recent invoice number. Support will never ask for your existing password.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: Will resetting my password sign me out elsewhere?

A: Yes. Active sessions on other devices may be invalidated as a security measure.

Q: Can support tell me my current password?

A: No. Passwords are not visible to support staff.

Synthetic sample document for RAG testing. The policies and service details in this file are fictional and should not be treated as real company policy.